COURSE DURATION

- Your course starts when you book!
- The overall course duration will depend on your previous skills and knowledge (both relating to EWP’s and other skills and knowledge), your Language Literacy and Numeracy skill level, and how quickly you learn.
- Your course may take anywhere up to 40 hours – this includes pre-attendance study (up to 8 hours), attendance (16 hours) , post training attendance study (up to 8 hours) and then assessment (up to 8 hours).

TRAINING AND ASSESSMENT INFORMATION:

Your training includes both theory and practical components. There is some assessment during the training component and then a Final Assessment (Safe Work NSW assessment).

- During the 2 days training attendance - You will be assessed throughout and at the end of the training component of the course to determine if you are ready for Final Assessment (Safe Work Assessment). You will need to meet all training requirements in order to proceed to Final Assessment.

If you are not “Ready for Assessment” then your trainer will detail how you can become ready for assessment. “Ready for Assessment” means that with further study and revision of your learning you have a great chance of completing your assessment and attaining your licence.

- Final Assessment – Once you are “Ready for Final Assessment”, you may book your Safe Work NSW Assessment.

Assessments have theory, calculation and practical components and are conducted on a regular schedule (subject to availability and may be up to 4 weeks wait). Assessment may take up to a full day depending on how many people are being assessed on the day, and how well and quickly you complete your Theory Assessment. Assessment bookings are subject to availability and a minimum wait time applies to allow you to study for your Final Assessment.
